senate which was confinied daring several days in the latter part of the month of Janu ary stated clearly and forcibly the main objecmons to this bijl Mr S criman was of opin ton that the proposed 1 an could not be negotheted at thre 101 ct interet. He dil not say positively that it could not be but I is be hef the at could not was based mounty on the fact that as one bonds monerate market are solling at 11 os which yield more than three per cent to the holders the conclusion is a fair one hat the borrowing power or the govern ment is not so to an three pur cent Again no government has ever sold its bonds bearing three per cent interest, at par. Whenever rate was six per cent, but the bonds bearing a benefit this rate often sold as low as 80 so that the rate of interest realized by investors ran as high as nine per cent. The secretary showed the committee from tables prepared in the treasury department that the net value of a three per cent bond interest re-invested semi annually computed on the basis of present net prices of four per cent securities of the United States to run 10 years would be 97 90 and the present net value of the same build to run 20 years mould be 96 30 at which rate in we tors would realize about three and a half business to himself. At the proper time tel per cent per annum. He thought therefore that a three and a half per cent rate ought to be adopted for the new funding scheme since if three per ats were assued and it was expected that the loan would be taken the country would have to abandon the pelies it had continued ever since the time of Hamilton of maintaining t bonds at par aid adopt the English system of elling bonds at a fixed rate of interest at any price they would bring entered into a m nuto and careful analysis of the bill before the committee. He showed that the fifth section would define the whole machimers of fice Junking. It would not only prevent the banks from reducin,, then enough mon at pleasure bu would provide in eff at for a permanent deposit of bonds amounting to one third of the capital stool of each bank This see ion would also provide virtually that if a bank has too n uch circulation it shall keep if if the too little it shall not increase it. nniess it shall deposit bonds which are almost certain to be worth less than par B sides it NKP HRNISHER KOOM SUGIL OR IN would subme the large to almost certain less. would subject the lanks to almost certain loss and require them to continue to submit to the loss when they might at times retrieve or dimin 1sh 10 by depositing lawful money in the treas ury and again coming into the possession of their own bonds if the market price should be sufficient to justify a sale

The scheme of this bill is to make a comput sory market for the bonds of the United States sufficient to justify a sale to force a low rate of interest by legislation-s lower rate than any at which a government has ever succeeded in placing a loan-and to coerce the banks into support of the undertak ing It is folly to attempt to carry public credit particularly in the time of peace by compulsors measures Such effort may de range the finances and disturb business as this one has done, but it can answer no good. Tho president therefore has properly vetoed the

This day Pleadent Hares retires from office

His administration has been in every way a reputable and successful one. To the country and to his party it has been alike honorable ' He serves his party best who best serves his country was a maxim put forth by him when he took the oftee from which he now retires, and his career well exemplifies it He became Lots 3 and 4, B och 23, with Residence, president at a time when the public credit was unsettled when the ammosities of party were running high when the roughlican party itself had lost favor and barely escaped defeat and when the old contention between the north and north was still the running sore of our politics As he retires he sees the public credit brmly established the angrestrate of party quite sub sided the southern question practically closed and the republican party restored to the confidence of the country There has been honest and efficient administration of the laws The president has not consorted with doubtful or disgraced characters No scandalous transac tions have been laid at the door of his admin astration The professional office sceker and political jobber have had no encouragement from him A cold sloulder has been turned to the representatives of the boss system. As a consequence of all this the government in all its departments has been satisfactorily admin extered and the republican party has been given a new lease of life and power

It is not necessary to refer particularly to the plight in which the republican party was at the close of Prosident Grant s administration There are few who cannot clearly recollect it The party, for many years so powerful and tra umphant had been greatly weakened in the confidence of the country, Politica, jobberv had run rist in its name. In nearly every state a set of men who had learned to make politics a trade had usuiped control and direc tion of the party and were making it an instrument of personal gain and triumph The national administration had recognized the state bosses and given them full power The consequence of course, was first a protest and then a revolt in overy state. It was with great difficulty that old republican states, formerly sure for great majorities were hold in the republican column even on the occasion of a presidential election Some of them indeed were actually lost and the majorities were greatly reduced in all. Congress was controlled by the opposition and it appeared that in the next national struggle the republican party would have to fi ht fin its very exist nec but an acceptable admin strator during fat r years has fed the count vito to stat again and it is or ditable to Pr sident Hapes that as he retires tom effice his parti it strong tri umphant and fully re-estal lished in the proud position it uld for so many Jours

The republican parts will not support an ad ministration that suffers itself to be controlled Is profe or allowers and dispraced by job There i in it a spirit of chiticism in l the national debt. The veto will justify it elf undepti len, which refuses to be surpressed President Haves has shown the country that the true strength of a party is now in the well of scheming politicians but in high principles a courageous morality and a stendisst adheren to a policy or course of action which is so picu a onference with the finance computation of the and clear as to require no up they and to call

Bad enough, said the captain but not quite the worst in the world. I don't know whether the chance which a voin, nevy of mine run fool of during the hist voing, in the Bry of Biscan wasn't just as bad. We were in a stumpt tub of a mafferdite bright trying to clay off a lee shore with a rolling sea and plenty of wind in short sudden pulls. The non-and-out lighter fond of reading and shalling his dary whenever he cuild his nurther my only sister a widow by the way had made me promise to take care of him but we were short handed and he was forced to wird his turn. Time of the hands had gone aloft to shake out a reef in the forctopaul—the rigging was covered with go—it was a January morning—well the how shipped or was thrown, or blown from the yard—histortaught in a bight in some of the running rigging and he hing by the heels head downward, from the end of the vard tuping into the sea at each plunge of the old craft and housted up again high and by the heels head downward, from the end of the vard dipping into the sea at each plunge of the old craft and hosted up again high and dra every time she came to the wind. I expected every roll to see him jerked from his foothold and no boat that we had could have hired a minute in that sea. I did not dain to inflor feur of being taken aback. When I thought of his mather I had a great mind to save him even if I beached the old tub but the point I wanted to weather was close abend and the roar of the surf did not sound allocather. point I wanted to weather was close about and the roar of the surf did not sound altogether the thing. We did save him at last I guess his feelings were quite as queer as these of your friend the fowler. He had but one pull up while my newy had better than one hundred—with a cold frost; sea between each pull—nothing but an accidental half hitch round his able and head downs and all the while ankle and head downward all the while Herrible indeed What did you say to the poor fellow when he was relieved?

Told him he deserved a starting for being so clums; when he knew I was short handed—marklow some coffee and turn in He never went aloft again and at tife end of the voyage out the sea and took to carpentering That's some years ago and his hair and t turned gray yet. gray vet

Crop Prospects for 1881.-Review of the Mar-kets for Last Week

LONDON Feb 29—The Mark Lane Expressin review of the grant trade for the past week any. The sortion for spring sowing, scretainty is no quod for the end of 1 ebrusy. The next fortilight's weather is therefore momentous as sowings much be inferred if the weather is bad. Young wheat has recovered from the effects of the rocent storm and is in a healthy condition. Prospects for the 881 wheat crop are dee dedly favorable. Dry samples are a lift scarce and have improved. Flour is in slow consumptive demand at unchanged rates. Althoughter the trade in breadstuffs is dull and slow. Foreign is in askedy lemand and some descriptions have improved. A nertican red winter and Anstralian 6d higher. The supply, thirdly from America Hungary and India is very modurate and the above fractional solvance, is the result. Spot trade is alow and quiet. For barley the demand has improved but vices are unchanged. Malting and grinding samples are dull. The same may be said of foreign but the demand, is unimproved. Oats are firm and no higher. Old is searce and sold readily foreign quiet and unchanged. Cargo trade is dull. Marke is very quest and in alicer singly but unchanged. The supply that unchanged.
